

Guidance Information Meeting for Sophomore/Junior Parents

Demystifying the College Application Review Process

Presented by Nat Smitobol and Kyle Graham Admissions Counselors, New York University Abu Dhabi

Sponsored by the Edgemont Guidance Department

With the college admission process continuing to become more selective, students and families understandably have questions about how colleges reach admissions decisions. This workshop will teach participants how the application review process is conducted through a hands-on, interactive case study approach. Participants will learn a fictitious review rubric and will have a better understanding of what happens behind closed committee doors. We look forward to you joining us for what we feel is an important and timely conversation for Edgemont families. Please feel free to bring any specific questions you have.

About the presenters:

Nat Smitobol spent five years working for his Alma Mater, Skidmore College, as the Associate Director of Admissions. He currently serves as the Senior Assistant Director of Admissions for NYU Abu Dhabi.

Kyle Graham is the Associate Director of Admission at NYU Abu Dhabi. He started his admissions career at his alma mater, Hamilton College, where he spent two years as Assistant Dean of Admission.
